Odell Introduction

TEACH

Implementation

- Create 6 stations around the room.
- Display material on each station
 - Station 1: 1920's role of women
 - Station 2: Art Deco architecture
 - Station 3: Harlem Renaissance
 - Station 4: Prohibition
 - Station 5: Great Depression, WWI
 - Station 6: WWI
- Material for each station can be found in the resource folder – labeled in accordance to the station topics. You can create one more station that will cover the fashion of 20's. However, all included stations can capture the fashion at the time
- Ask students (as a class) to take a look at each station
- Once they view all stations, divide your class into 6 small groups and assign each group to briefly summarize/present the findings of their assigned station. At this point, you can offer students a choice of topics & presentation modality (depending on your class dynamic, students, class culture etc).
 - Provide each group with a primary source document analysis
 - Provide students with a rubric for their group work presentation
 - Once they complete the work ask groups to present findings to the whole class
 - Complete the class with the summary of Roaring 20s.
