Take time to explore the following arts integration resources. Be sure to make note of at least one helpful tip/resource/idea to share in the Jamboard in this course's next section.

- Google Drive Folder of all Samples shared During this Course

- Kennedy Center Digital Resource Library–Library of lessons and resources searchable by grade band, academic content, arts content, theme and more.

- Artful Thinking Routines Resources

    - Resource guide assembled by Pat Klos, former Arts Integration Specialist with AACPS

    - Artful Thinking website from Harvard University's Project Zero

- Tate Kids–young people-centered website full of resources on visual art in the Tate's collection. Many resources to help you and your students to discover new artists.

- Google Arts and Culture–a great way to view large high quality art images and virtually "visit" museums and artifacts around the world.

- PS Arts to Go–these video resources from California-based non profit PS Arts present brief, clearly laid out arts projects and experiences tied to a variety of artists and artforms. note–not all of these are arts infused, some are more arts appreciation projects

- Arts Integrated Lesson Plans from the United Arts Council–library of lessons searchable by grade band, academic content, arts content, and more.

- National core Arts Standards

- Maryland College and Career Readiness Standards for English Language Arts and Literacy
